DISCOVER GERMANY WITH RABEN!

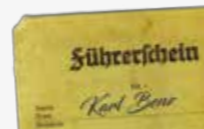

Beer is by far the best German export product! In Bavaria this drink is treated as food and Germany is the second largest (after Ireland) consumer of beer in the world. 40% of the annual supply of beer is sold during the largest beer festival in the world – Oktoberfest. So, if you feel like having a tasty beer, you can import it via Raben.

Our Western neighbour is a paradise for fans of gluten and sausages! They have over 300 types of bread and 1000 kinds of sausage!

The first driving licence was issued in Germany. In 1888, Karl Benz received it from the Grand Duke of Baden. Would you like to be a driver in Raben? You can't without a driving license! 😊

The longest running restaurant in the world is located in Regensburg. It was established in 1146.

The two largest sports gear rivals, Adidas and Puma, are... the companies of two Dassler brothers who have been competing for years. They quarrelled right after World War II and never talked to each other since, and each of them painstakingly built their sports empires.

The longest German word has 79 letters! Does anyone know how to pronounce it? 😊

Donaudampfschiffahrtselektrizitätenhauptbetriebswerkbauunterbeamtengesellschaft

If you want to swear in public without being punished, Germany is a perfect place for that! In 2012, a helpline called the Schimpf-los was opened, where you can complain about operators without any restraints, which means "swear away",

It's good that Raben doesn't need such a line! 😊

The Berlin underground line is over 150 km long (151,7) and it has 173 stations! Annually it is used by approx. 510 m people.

Germans protect the environment – each plastic bottle in much thicker so it can be reused and you have to pay a deposit for each drink in a can, plastic or glass bottle. Raben also cares for the environment. We are investing in modern, eco-friendly fleet with Euro 5 and Euro 6 emission standard, we have been running the e-invoice project for year and our offices and warehouses are also ecological!

The most common surname in Germany is Müller, which means miller in English 😊 2% of the population have such a surname!

Germans are really creative and they are responsible for quite many inventions and innovations. For instance, they were able to convert traditional chest board into a star-shaped one and talk Americans into advertising the game as... Chinese checkers! 😊
